

Bethany Corbae:

Bethany Corbae is a proud candidate for an MBA in Real Estate Finance and Urban Land Economics from the Wisconsin School of Business. She will graduate in May 2018.

After receiving her B.A. in Philosophy from Tufts University, Bethany worked at a Madison, Wisconsin law firm specializing in corporate governance and tax law for nonprofit organizations. During this time, Bethany observed the impacts of building developments on local communities, crisis groups and homeless populations – an observation which sparked her interest in the real estate industry.

Bethany recently completed her summer associate internship at Invesco LTD, where she worked as an investment analyst with the U.S. Direct Real Estate Acquisitions team. At Invesco, Bethany underwrote over $200 million in commercial assets and was involved in multiple stages of the investment process; including market analysis, due diligence and committee presentations.

At the Wisconsin School of Business Bethany is a member of the Applied Real Estate Investment Track (AREIT) program, which actively manages a portfolio of over $2 million invested in real estate investment trusts (REITs). She currently serves as co-President of the Real Estate Club, as well as TA for the undergraduate real estate process course. In her spare time, Bethany enjoys swimming, being outdoors and coaching.
